MY ROLE AT AMAZON

- I was offered a role as a Team Lead Intern in the Amazon Warehouse in Mohali, Punjab. This warehouse carries out operations of Amazon for Chandigarh and Mohali
- On the first day, I was given an assignment to see the lifecycle of a packet in the Amazon warehouse.
- In the first 2 weeks, I was learning all the operations and understanding the processes of Amazon. As I want to lead a team it is essential to learn everyone's role and their work.
- After 2 weeks I was assigned 2 projects
 1. LMCPs (Last Mile Cost Per shipment)
 2. Readme%
- My task was to improve the Readme% and to bring a reduction in LMCPs
- I was also working on DNR and LMR where the Team Lead had to manually resolve the Complaints of a customer and prevent it from happening again by taking necessary actions in the Warehouse.
- The Warehouse has a scorecard and everyone works in the warehouse to achieve the goals in the scorecard.
- The Team Lead's major objective is to handle the day-to-day operations of the warehouse smoothly plan the next day in advance and improve the performance of the warehouse
- But as an Intern we are supposed to invest major time in the Project assigned to us and to see and learn from other Team Leads.
- The review was conducted in the last week of my internship. The review was based on my learnings about operations in the Amazon warehouse and also based on my projects.
- The review was conducted on chime and in the meeting there was Manager, HR, HR Business Partner, and Territorial Manager.
- In the meeting, they saw my report for 5 minutes and then I presented my report for 10 minutes and it was followed by 5 minutes of Question and Answer. The Questions are basically from the report itself. Then after 20 Minutes, I was asked to drop off from the meeting.

Learnings:

1. I understood the delivery system of Amazon. Also Learned about the various software tools used by Amazon in the warehouse and how to use them.
2. By working as a Team Lead I have to communicate with multiple parties: customers, delivery partners, delivery partners supervisors, station process associates, station support associates, and also the alpha employees. So, effective communication is must needed skill and I learned it
3. I had to go through the data of the warehouse and act on the data by communicating with your team about the actions they should take to improve the scorecard of the warehouse.

Points to Note:

1. It is not a technical role and it requires no technical skills. It is a role related to management in operations.
2. You have to be good at communication and should possess a learning attitude to learn things every day.
3. The recruiters from Amazon will clarify that they won't be providing any accommodations or traveling allowance and the locations are kept PAN India.
4. The Team Lead is a responsible position as you handle the day to day operations of amazon. So, you are accountable for not only mistakes made by you but also by any of your team members. But as an intern you will not face such a situation because you are expected to invest time on projects assigned to you.

Positives:

1. Your Leadership skills improve by working as a Team Lead
2. You will meet people from various walks of life and you can learn many things from them.
3. If Someone wants to Pursue an MBA then it is a great internship to add to your resume.
4. A great place for those who want to work in operations.
